Warranty:

Technical specifications, recommendations and all other statements about these vinyl films are based upon tests believed to be factual but do not constitute a guarantee or warranty. All of these films are sold with the understanding that the purchaser will use the vinyl films for the intended purposes in which they, (the films) were manufactured for following the given parameters of each product.

Should these vinyl films fail to execute correctly after specified proper use and application within one year of shipment date, we will replace the defective material. We also require an actual sample of any vinyl film in question.

Our liability for a defective product shall not exceed the original price paid by the purchaser. Under no circumstances shall we be responsible for any incidental or other damages outside of our control of the manufactured vinyl films.

No additional warranties or implied warranties other than those stated above which are made expressly in lieu of all other warranties shall apply to any vinyl films sold by us. We specifically disclaim and exclude all other warranties.
